2:00 PM - 4:30 PM | Workshops A&B (Choose One)

WORKSHOP A – Substance Use Disorder Clients & the Secrets They Hide

Stella Nicholson, CAADC, MA, LCPC, MAC, CODP I, ICB Board Secretary

There is a saying in the addiction field that “you are as sick as your secrets” and unfortunately there is a lot of truth to that statement. Could these hidden secrets be the reason that some people struggling with addiction chronically relapse in the hope of silencing their guilt and shame? This interactive workshop will brainstorm together ways to clinically deal with this problem and discover methods that can help.

WORKSHOP B – Women and Substance Use: Providing Gender-Responsive Practices in Treatment Settings

Victoria Wynecoop-Abrahamson, LSW

Women who are impacted by substance use concerns often experience unique barriers that can be overlooked within traditional treatment settings. These barriers can be especially complex for women impacted by poverty, women of color, LGBTQ women and people who are pregnant or parenting, highlighting the need for equity-based approaches in gender-responsive care. To center gender-responsive care in substance use treatment services, it is vital to foster relational environments. This workshop will focus on implementing these relational environments by addressing the holistic needs of women that include mental and physical health, family and healing from trauma. It will support SUD counselors and recovery specialists to collaborate and discuss what creating these healing spaces can look like and consider the unique circumstances that the women experience interpersonally and within their communities.

5:00 PM - 6:00 PM | Meet the Executive Director Reception

Please mark your registration form if you plan to attend.

6:00 - 9:15 PM | Monday Evening Workshop (3 CEUs)

In this workshop, they will share the motivation for the organization’s creation, the science behind the benefits of animal and human connection, the organization’s unique wish granter program to secure ESAs, the ESA certification letter process and their therapy dog program.

WORKSHOP C – Panel Regarding Initiatives for Justice Involved Individuals at the State and National Levels

Dona Howell, MS, CRADC, CODP II, Alyssa Williams, IDOC, Acting Assistant Director, Jennifer Parrack, IDOC, Chief of Programs, Jason Garnett, IDOC, Chief of Parole, Jennifer Becan, Ph.D., Dave Olson, Ph.D. and Jonathon Ross, Ph.D.

The first panel will be comprised of Illinois Department of Corrections executive staff and address at the state level the multiple programming needs while justice involved individuals are at facilities and as they transition to the community. Additionally, it will discuss how IDOC is developing innovative programs and services, training staff and working with communities to ensure positive outcomes for justice involved individuals. The second panel will address the challenges facing justice involved individuals at the national level through the National Institute of Drugs (NIDA) JCOIN initiative and how multiple agencies are partnering to improve treatment outcomes for justice involved individuals with substance use disorders. Innovative programs, agency collaborations, and research efforts will be presented. The workshop will conclude with a discussion on how national and state initiatives influence services for this population.

WORKSHOP D – Navigating Shame Culture

Cheri DeMoss, MA, LCPC, CAADC, NCADCII, MAC, NCRS

Clients, especially those struggling with substance use disorders, not only live in today's shame culture but were raised in families where shaming was the norm. Research has shown that shame demoralizes people, especially children. It generates aggression, bullying, sadness and depression because it makes clients feel bad about themselves which can lead to substance use struggles. This workshop will focus on where shame comes from, how it gets its power and how to loosen the vise-like grip it has over those struggling with substances. It will also look closely at techniques, skills and options to use when assisting clients in, not just, raising their self-esteem but in reclaiming the self-acceptance they were born with.

WORKSHOP E – Combat Trauma, Post-Traumatic Stress, Post-Traumatic Growth, Traumatic Brain Injury and Moral Injury in Veterans

Joseph E. Troiani, Ph.D., CADC, ICB President-Elect

This workshop focuses on defining and understanding the lived experience of combat trauma, post-traumatic stress disorder, post-traumatic growth, traumatic brain injury and moral injury with those who are still serving or have served in the United States Military. A comparison and contrast to examine treatment considerations between these experiences will be addressed. A brief discussion will also occur on the impact of vicarious trauma and growth on the treating clinician.

12:00 PM - 1:15 PM | Lunch

1:15 PM - 4:30 PM | Workshops C, D & E (continued)

6:00 - 9:15 PM | Tuesday Evening Workshop (3 CEUs)

TUESDAY EVENING WORKSHOP – Untenable Beliefs, Incredulous Change

Cheri DeMoss, MA, LCPC, CAADC, NCADCII, MAC, NCRS

This workshop will focus on the beliefs that clients have that are unsustainable but deeply held. They move forward basing their lives, relationships and parenting on these beliefs and feel surprised by the hurtful or disastrous results. The beginning of this workshop will discuss how to help clients understand what makes these tightly held but untenable beliefs shrouded in denial. The workshop will conclude with focusing on the unbelievable change that happens whether they became curious for insight or whether they continue to implement beliefs that are and always will be unsustainable. The preferred option is for clients to gain useful information to create change.

NOTE: Participants interested in attending this workshop must select it on the registration form and pay the evening workshop registration fee. If participants choose to attend the entire day or other days in addition to this workshop, all registration fees apply.

WORKSHOP 1 – Leadership 2023: Heroic Recovery - Embracing Your Clients’ Diversity (A Training of Leaders Presentation)

Nina J. Henry, LCPC, CADC, Pamela Woll, MA, CPS and Giselle Hernandez Navarro, LCSW, CADC
Recovery from substance and non-substance use disorders is not for the faint-hearted. Add to that the difficulty encountered by people of color, individuals with physical disabilities, people with multiple diagnoses, LGBTQ+ and individuals who have been “othered” during their lifetime. As our society grapples with issues of racism and many forms of discrimination, it is incumbent upon leaders in the behavioral health field to support their staff and clients by developing an atmosphere of safety and acceptance. Participants will learn to foster an awareness of intersectionality, recognizing that clients and many staff members contend with identity-related challenges in their day-to-day existence and learn to identify safe, stabilizing and unifying ways of helping people accept, value and respect themselves and others in spite of differences and societal conditioning. No previous leadership experience is needed to attend this workshop.

WORKSHOP 2 – Peer Professionals and their Role in the Recovery/Wellness Continuum

Justin R. Beatty, CAPRC II-MH/FS/GS, ICPR, CADAC II, ICADC, CSPR-PR/CL, CRP, MATS, BCPG
Peer support is an evidence-based practice that is vital to a person’s sustained recovery/wellness process. This workshop will delve into who peer professionals are, what separates them from personal peer support and how to effectively integrate their skills into our services while ensuring they receive the support and guidance that allows them to thrive. It will explore various aspects such as the peer scope of practice, the training/certification process, successful integration of the role into various professional settings and professional development to grow peers in their roles and status in organizations.

WORKSHOP 3 – Working With You, Makes Me Blue

Sherwin K. Miles, CADC and Leonta Jackson, Sr., MS, BS
This workshop will engage participants to review their management style and how to handle communication hurdles, workplace stress, emotional quicksand and rival management. Participants will be given tools on how to handle ill-tempered staff/peers and how to manage difficult situations. The presenters will share their best leadership skills and the importance of self-reflection. This workshop is built on real time experiences when dealing with challenging individuals. Participants of this workshop have the potential to walk away with insight on how to resolve workplace situations and improve work life balance.

12:00 PM - 1:15 PM | Lunch

1:15 PM - 4:30 PM | Workshops 4, 5 & 6

WORKSHOP 4 – What to Do When Your Client Says They’re Hearing Voices?
An Integrated Treatment Approach for Co-Occurring
Psychosis and Substance Use Disorders

Dominique Phua, LCSW, CADC

Nearly half of all people with severe mental illness (SMI) report substance use, however many clinicians feel unprepared to work with clients that experience co-occurring SMI and substance use disorders. This workshop will provide counselors and recovery specialists with entry level knowledge of psychosis spectrum disorders and practical skills to engage these individuals in treatment. It will give special attention on how to integrate treatment of SMI and SUD concurrently with emphasis on peer advocacy and engagement.

WORKSHOP 5 – The Effectiveness of the Intact Family Recovery Model in Child Welfare

Maha McDiarmid, MPPA, Randi Slack, Andrea Durbin, Susan Pickett, Ph.D. and Rachel Monroe, MNM

The Intact Family Recovery (IFR) model seeks to improve outcomes for families involved in child welfare due to a parent’s substance misuse. The model embeds recovery coordinators—specialized case managers whose primary focus is getting parents into substance use treatment and helping them stay engaged in treatment—in DCFS’ Intact Family services program. Through federal funding from the Administration on Children and Families, Illinois Collaboration on Youth and Advocates for Human Potential, Inc. (AHP) are examining the effectiveness of IFR in improving parents’ substance use recovery, family stability and child safety, permanency and well-being. This workshop will provide an overview of the IFR program, share preliminary results and discuss next steps for long-term sustainability of the model.

WORKSHOP 6 – Ethical Considerations

George K. Rafeedie, MPA, CSADC

This workshop will provide a capstone review of the Code of Ethics as it relates to legal issues, dual relationships, self-care, clinical supervision, fairness and other areas. Participants will review various scenarios and apply the rules and codes to their decisions in critical situations. Weighing those decisions via evaluation of utility, rights, justice, common good and virtuous, while balancing all of this with their own values and morals.

WORKSHOP 7 – A Wilderness Survival Guide to the Field of Addictions

Jason Florin, MA, MHS, LPC, CAADC, SAP

This workshop will introduce a series of skills and topics that will be especially useful to newer counselors trying to establish themselves in the field. The emphasis is on developing important habits that will lead to greater success and longevity in the field of addictions. Although the material is geared toward newcomers to the field, those already working in addictions can also benefit from hearing about the ways counselors improve their approach to their work in order to thrive. The hope is that each participant will walk away with a better sense of what it takes to be successful in the field.

WORKSHOP 8 – Specialized Substance Use Disorders Treatment for Adolescents and Emerging Adults

Mark Sanders, LCSW, CADC

This workshop highlights the unique treatment needs of adolescents and emerging adults with substance use disorders. It will include information on engagement, evidence-based approaches and family focused therapy. Emphasis will be placed upon race, equity and substance use disorders treatment with this population.

WORKSHOP 9 – Raising Awareness of Disordered Gambling: We All Have a Role to Play

Elizabeth Thielen, LPC, PCGC and Anita Pindiur, MS, LCPC, CADC, PCGC, ICDVP, CAMS-I

It's recently been determined that over 1 million Illinoisans struggle with disordered gambling or at-risk gambling behavior. With such low help-seeking among this group, it is clear that increasing awareness of gambling disorder and of the help that is available is crucial. What many helping professionals may not know is that they do not have to be an "expert" on gambling disorder or a provider of gambling services to play a role in raising awareness (though our experts certainly contribute greatly to outreach efforts!). This workshop aims to provide a framework for helping professionals to bring critical information and hope to their communities. From medical professionals, social service workers, criminal justice professionals, right through gambling outreach providers, we all have a role to play.

11:45 AM - 12:15 PM | Annual Meeting, Reports and Awards

12:15 PM - 1:15 PM | Lunch

1:15 PM - 4:30 PM | Workshops 10, 11 & 12

WORKSHOP 10 – ICB Credentials

Dianne Williams, ICB Senior Operations

This workshop will cover all professional credentials offered through ICB. The application and exam process and how to maintain your credentials once they are acquired will be explained in detail. Information on how to transition a current counselor certification to the international/reciprocal level will also be discussed. This will be an excellent opportunity to get more familiar with ICB and to ask questions about furthering your professional credentials.

WORKSHOP 11 – Tools and Skills for Effective Clinical Supervision

Bob Carty, LCSW, CADC and Joseph Rosenfeld, Psy.D., CRADC, HS-BCP

*Clinical supervision is an essential component of high-quality clinical services. In this workshop, the co-presenters integrate both the theory and practice of supervision. A review of David Powell's classic textbook, Clinical Supervision in Alcohol and Drug Abuse Counseling, provides the theory. The more than 80 years of the co-presenters' combined clinical experience provides the practice. Participants will be able to compare and contrast three levels of counselor experiences and their implications for supervision and list training methods to enhance the use of evidence-supported practices.*

WORKSHOP 12 – Leveraging Peer Services: Building Recovery Centers and Peer Development

Tony Vezina, BSW, CRM II, PSS

This workshop will describe the various benefits of peer-run recovery centers and peer support specialists, how to develop, operate and fund recovery centers and various ways to develop the peer support workforce. As a bonus, the presenter will highlight Oregon's decriminalization measure passed in November of 2020.

ICB Scholarship Donation

ICB firmly believes that no counselor should sacrifice their continuing education due to lack of funds. Because of that firm belief, a scholarship fund has been established specifically for ICB members who lack the ability to pay the conference fees. Through donations, ICB will provide members the funds to attend workshops, network with you and their peers and experience every opportunity the conference has to offer.

☐ $500

This amount includes one free quarter page ad in the April 2023 ICB Newsletter and special recognition at the conference.
